

WASHINGTON NEWS GOSSIP

By CHARLES BROOKS SMITH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 16.—"I haven't the least doubt of the election of Major Davis Ekins to the United States Senate next month," said former Governor William E. Glasscock of Morgantown, at the Raleigh today. "Monongalia county will give him a record-breaking majority, and Congressmen George E. Bowers, whose services in the House have been so highly satisfactory to the people of the second district, will receive a large majority in the county that it has ever given him."

"I am more familiar with the political situation in the Second Congressional district than I am in the balance of the state, but my information is that the prospects for Republican success are better this year than they have been in a number of years in the other five districts. There isn't a doubt in my mind that the Second district will re-elect Congressman Bowers by an increased majority and that Major Ekins will carry the district by a big lead."

"To my mind the large vote cast by the Republicans and the inexplicable small vote cast by the Democrats in the primary of August 6th pointed clearly to what is going to happen on the first day of next month. If there is anything in coming events casting their shadows before, it looks to me that the vote cast at the primary was a shadow of unmistakably large proportions and clear outline. That was not lost on the Democratic politicians, by any means. It is one of the heaviest and most depressing feelings that their campaign managers are trying to work under."

Add to that the fact that the Republicans are united and harmonious this year as they haven't been for a long, long while, and the opposition isn't, but is split, and split badly, from the bitter personal and factional contest between Senator Chilton and Col. Watson, which I think, we have stated the reasons for the optimism and faith which is in us. I believe that throughout the country—I feel certain that it is the case in West Virginia—the political trend is away from the party in power. That was indicated in the Republican gains in the Third district of Maine at the election held there last month, as well as in the special election in Wisconsin. For one, I expect to see the next Congress controlled by the Republican party, and I likewise think that it will be a good thing for the country. There are critical times ahead in the peace times that are to come. They will come during the next Congress, for the end of the war, in common with a great many other people I think is in sight. Germany is whipped now, only the finishing touches are necessary.

"The contest for control of the Senate will be close, and for the House, maybe. Certainly it will be close for control of the Senate. It may depend on what the vote is in West Virginia. For that reason, the responsibility of his party membership should be clearly understood by every West Virginia Republican as of the most vital importance. I think that our party men generally understand and appreciate that angle of the situation. If they do not, it should be impressed upon them without fail. It would be a humiliating regret for them to know that a failure to elect a member to Congress this year might be the means of losing their party control of the next Congress. It is most important to the welfare of the country in the first place, and to the party in the second place, that our party should control the Congress to be chosen next month."

Governor Glasscock came to Washington accompanied by R. M. Davis, Col. H. L. Carspecken, W. D. Scudder, and Col. E. B. Brier, all of whom are interested in coal mines near Morgantown, to confer with officials of the Fuel administration. Preceding that, they filled an appointment with Senator Sutherland at his offices.

lars for them. What a delightful life characteristic—that we know not what the morrow will bring. It makes each day so thrilling—so full of surprises. Were it not for this, we might very easily become afflicted with that disease called ennui. I overheard a woman say once: "I don't know what life had to offer for at least ten years ahead. I could plan accordingly." Mercy, what a calamity that would be and how gloriously well the Creator has planned just that very thing. Wouldn't it be dull and uninteresting if we were able to come down in the morning to a certain knowledge of everything which was going to happen during the day? Half the fun of living would be gone and we would find ourselves wishing for the end of the program and lights out.

Don't forget to have one of those rousing big fire picnics before the fall days are over. Pack your basket with weenies and bacon and take along rolls and mustard. Nothing else matters very much but the coffee pot. Get on the car and go to the end of the line and wander down a deserted road, if you can find any. Wherever you find plenty of sticks and permission to stop, build your fire. Sharpen long stout sticks and fasten your weenie, wrapped in a cunning cloak of bacon, on the end. Then sit and enjoy the smoke, the sputter, the tangy smell of woods and leaves and delicious matter what you eat on a jaunt of this sort. Just steep yourself in the autumn odors and colors—in the wide sweep of almost bare hills—away from all distractions of any sort. Such an outing will do you worlds of good and you will come back thoroughly convinced that influenza belongs only in dark dreams!

CHAMBERLAIN'S PILLS

Shall we buy potatoes at $2.15 a bushel from the track or shall we wait for better value, better potatoes—better something, we hardly know what? People are wonderful what people intend to do this winter anyway. Some tried sending away for them last winter only to find they came delayed by a week and spoiled. Others waited along fairly well. But there were a few lucky mortals bought a dollar and a half for bushel the rest paid three and a half.

M., at the east front door of the court house of Marion county, West Virginia, sell "All that certain parcel of real estate situated in Fairmont, Marion county, West Virginia, and known on the plat of the town of Palatine as Lot No. 145, being that part of said lot fronting 50 feet on Adams street, in said town, adjoining the property of the said town of Palatine (now a portion of the city of Fairmont) known as the Mayor's office and Lockup for said town, and extending back along the line of said town property 66 feet to the rear of said lot No. 145, the full width of said lot as it now is, and conveyed to Emma Knight by Josina D. Musgrave by deed dated the 11th day of June, 1914, Deed Book No. 198, page 32."

Terms of Sale.
One third of the purchase price (or as much more as the purchaser desires to pay) cash in hand on day of sale, and the balance thereof in two equal payments on a credit of six and twelve months from date of sale, the purchaser to execute his two several promissory notes therefor, with security to be approved by the undersigned, and as further security a vendor's lien will be retained in the deed for said property.

Authority is given to sell said property at public or private sale, and bids will be received therefor until date of sale.

E. C. Frame, Trustee.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE OF HOUSE AND LOTS IN SYCAMORE ADDITION TO MANNINGTON.

By virtue of a decree of the Intermediate Court of Marion county, West Virginia, entered on the first day of February, 1918, in the chancery cause of Thomas T. Morrison and John Robbins, partners, et al., against Nick Cateno, Francesco Quindim et al. I will, as Special Commissioner, sell at public auction, at the front door of the Court House of said county on SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 9TH, 1918, the following described real estate: Lots numbered 7, 8 and 9 in Block "M" of the Sycamore addition to the city of Mannington, Marion county, West Virginia, a plat of which said addition is of record in the Clerk's office of said Marion county in Deed Book No. 208 at page 423, on which said lots there is located a substantial cottage dwelling house; being the same real estate which was conveyed by the Sycamore Land company to Francesco Quindim by deed dated January 11th, 1915, and recorded in said Clerk's office in Deed Book No. 201 at page 325.

Terms of Sale.
One-third part thereof, or as much more as the purchaser may elect to pay, cash in hand on day of sale, with remainder in two equal annual installments, with interest, payable in one and two years respectively, after date of sale, the purchaser being required to give personal security for the payment of said obligations, to be approved by the undersigned, and as further security a Special Commissioner's lien will be retained in the deed conveying said property to the purchaser.

M. W. OGDEN, Special Commissioner.
I, Clarence Currey, Clerk of the Intermediate Court of Marion county, West Virginia, do certify that Marshall W. Ogdén, Special Commissioner, has executed bond, as required by said decree of sale in the above described cause.

CLARENCE CURREY, Clerk.

Soldiers Swear by Naptha Soap

Army Camp life is the test of a good soap, because clothes must be kept spotlessly clean without the aid of boiling water.

Because Fels-Naptha cleans so splendidly in cool or lukewarm water, it is the ideal soap for soldiers, as well as for women who seek relief from the terrors of boiling and hard rubbing.

It makes boiling and hard rubbing unnecessary, and shortens washing hours greatly. It will clean the dirtiest garment, yet will not injure the daintiest fabric. No wonder soldiers like it as much as thousands of women who wash the Fels-Naptha way.

Give half a dozen bars of Fels-Naptha to your soldier boy when next you send a parcel to camp.

FELS-NAPTHA

Your own grocer has Fels-Naptha.

"Where Are the Profits From the Dollars that Pass Through My Hands?"

The next time your hand grasps a roll of bills, ask yourself that question.

See if you cannot figure a way to place dollars immediately on interest so that they will pay you a revenue before you are obliged to let go of them.

Constructive thinking along this line has been directly responsible for uncovering hidden profits of substantial size.

Chicago Merchant Hits the Nail

The National War Savings Committee Section on National Organization has issued the following statement by Julius Rosenberg, Chicago Merchant:

"The way for an individual, for a business, for a nation to get along is to work and save. It is saving is necessary in normal times, how much more necessary is it in a time like the present. Saving by everyone is as imperative for the winning of this war as is the mobilizing of armies; more than that, the mobilizing of armies is entirely futile if this military step is not accompanied by the rigorous, common sense saving of the nation.
